

Juncadella named to lead Realtors Commercial Alliance

MIAMI - Jose I. Juncadella, SIOR, principal and founder of Miami commercial real estate services firm Fairchild Partners, has been named president of the Realtors Commercial Alliance, part of the Realtor Association of Greater Miami & the Beaches (RCA-RAMB).

A commercial real estate veteran with nearly three decades experience in industrial and office sales and leasing, Juncadella is widely recognized as one of South Florida's most active and knowledgeable professionals in the industry. He has completed more than $2 billion in sales and leasing volume throughout the tri-county area.

"Down markets offer organizations like the Realtors Commercial Alliance an ideal opportunity to demonstrate their value to members," said Juncadella. "Now more than ever, professionals need to stay motivated and active in our industry. As president, I will work with our members to boost event participation and strengthen chapter communication. By staying engaged with our industry and the broader professional community, members will be in prime position to build new relationships and seek-out deals."

The Realtors Commercial Alliance of RAMB is the only commercial association in Miami-Dade County dedicated exclusively to commercial real estate interests and is the fourth largest organization in the nation, providing member services and education throughout the year.

Prior to founding Fairchild Partners, Juncadella served as the leading commercial broker for Codina Realty Services, where he was recognized as the firm's broker of the year more than 15 times.
