

At the Commercial Super Expo & Real Estate Conference are, from left, Hank Klein, executive director, Cushman & Wakefield; Bill Biondi, EVP, Miami Asset Management Company; Tom Byrne, 2008 RCA Miami president and Esslinger, Wooten, Maxwell, Inc.; Kenneth Rosen, president, Kendar Realty Inc.; Jose Juncadella, 2009 RCA Miami president and principal/president, Fairchild Partners Inc.; Edward W. Easton, chairman, The Easton Group.

RCA hosts Commercial Super Expo & Conference

MIAMI - The Realtors Commercial Alliance of Greater Miami and the Beaches (RCA Miami) hosted the first annual Commercial Super Expo & Real Estate Conference.

After 12 years of success with the Commercial Expo, RCA Miami took the event to a higher level, attracting more than 250 commercial real estate professionals.

Leading innovators in the South Florida commercial real estate market - including Hank Klein, Cushman and Wakefield; Edward Easton, The Easton Group; Kenneth Rosen, CCIM, Kendar Real Estate; and William Biondi, Miami Asset Management Company - headlined the lunch with the Legends panel. Thomas Byrne, 2008 RCA president, of Esslinger-Wooten-Maxwell Realtors, served as moderator.

The panelists offered insights to commercial practitioners starting out in the business and emphasized the importance on volunteer leadership and civic responsibility.

The premier conference program featured three keynote speakers, including Jerry D. Anderson, CCIM, executive managing director; Robert J. Nahigian, FRICS, SIOR, CRE, managing principal, Auburndale Realty Company; and Jay Windsor, PM Nexus owner/principal.

With more than 1,000 members, RCA is the only association of Realtors dedicated exclusively to commercial real estate interest throughout Miami-Dade County.